sign I am going to leave for Yae the latter part of December an leave of absence from the forester, and deliver a series of lectures lasting six or seven weeks on the administration of the national forests. Then I am going to study forestry in France and Germany for a year, if the forester approves. I do not contemplate leaving Albuquerque or the district permanently.

Look it over now, it will help you decide for some of your Christmas Gifts.

THREE OUTFITS IN FIELD AT SEVEN LAKES DISTRICT

Edmund Ross Returns from Oil Field With Information of Development and Progress in McKinley County.

Edmund Ross and J. G. Mayo returned last night from the oil fields near Gallup, and Mr. Ross gave out a statement of the development and progress on the field. He is very optimistic regarding the future of the district.

"There are three rigs in the field now," he said, "and an Arizona outfit has one on the way which will likely be set up northwest of the original well some distance out.

"There is one eight miles northwest of the Talley brook well which is now down about 125 to 150 feet, with a 10 inch hole. The drillers of this well struck a slight seepage of oil at 80 feet, but it was inconsiderable. Then there is another rig at work, or set up and ready to go to work, 10 miles southeast of the Talley well. The Gallup people have their rig up and ready to begin work at a point 7 miles northeast of the Talley well.

"The Talley well has been tested, and its capacity is found to be 20 barrels a day."

Mid-Season Bargains In Modish Millinery

We're not reducing our stock; in fact, we're adding to it daily with fashionable hat arrivals from the east. We have, however, determined on a mid-season of quick sales, and for this reason prices have been cut all along the line.

Don't forget, either, that we manufacture hair goods—switches, puffs, wigs, etc. We're prepared, too, for artistic hair-dressing and scientific face massage.

VARSITY ELEVEN TO MEET ROSWELLITES HERE SATURDAY

First Big Pigskin Event of Season to Be Held at Traction Park Late of This Week.

What will likely be one of the best football games played here for several years will happen on the Traction park gridiron Saturday afternoon, when the University of New Mexico will meet the strong aggregation from the Military Institute at Roswell.

The Roswell team is said to be very strong, and to play a very fast game. The Varsity lads are practicing hard, and under the guidance of Coach Hutchinson, expect to show the cadets a thing or two.

Coach Balducci of the Agricultural college aggregation has been asked to referee the contest.

WOOD SAYS HE IS OUTCLASSED

Well Known Attorney Declines To Answer Journal's Attack; Not in Paper's Class As Mudslinger.

Asked if he cared to answer the vituperative attack upon him made by the Morning Journal today, Attorney Francis E. Wood, of this city, said that he felt himself not to be able to compete with the writers of the morning paper in a mudslinging contest.

"I do not need or care," said Mr. Wood, to enter into any mudslinging contest with the Journal. I would be hopelessly outclassed. The people of Albuquerque and the territory know the character and reputation of the Journal and those who control it. They know how much reliance is to be placed on its veracity. It seems I am considered high enough in Republican councils to merit a shot and as the only ammunition they possess or have ability to use is filth, of course that is the material thrown at me. As to its truth, well I have answered that already. It isn't worth discussing."

RESIGNATION STORY DENIED BY WOOLSEY

Associate District Forester Says Statement Made By Journal That He is to Leave Service is False.

Associate District Forester T. S. Woolsey, Jr., this morning denied the story published in the Journal to the effect that he was going to resign from the forest service and take a position as a professor at Yale.

Mr. Woolsey said, "I wish you would say for me that I am not going to re-
